Hi Laurie.

Bravo! I'm so glad that your dedication event went so well. I wish I had been available that day. I was in Pelkie presenting at a music conference that I have been committed to since May.

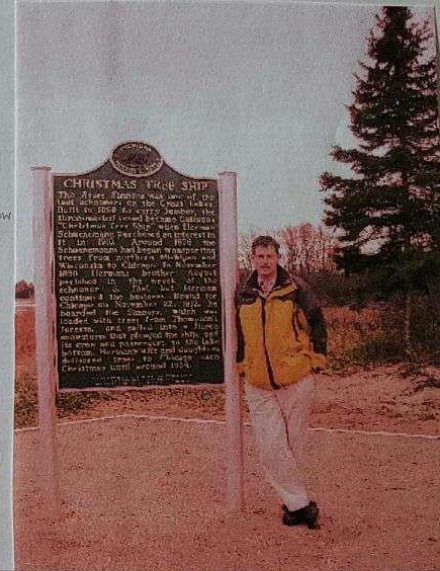

Thinking ahead, I'm planning on presenting "The Christmas Schooner" at Gwinn High School in December of 2007. I would very much like to bring the show to Manistique. You know, when I did the show in December of 2003 in Gwinn, I called Manistique High School a couple of times to see about bringing the show there that season, but I sensed a lack of enthusiasm from the school. Maybe I didn't talk to the right people. However, now that you've seen the show and are so passionate about preserving the history of the Rouse Simmons, I bet you could help make it happen. We could make it into a true community event celebrating the Christmas Tree Ship.

I'm sure we could offset the travel and production costs with ticket sales. The financial end will take care of itself. My concerns would be booking the high school auditorium for rehearsal and performance times, and then of course, publicity and getting people to see the show. I'm thinking we could present two shows on a Saturday in December of 2007, like at 2:00 and 7:00. I've taken a couple of other shows on the road, so I know that travel will not be a problem. Bringing "Schooner" to Manistique would be an incredible experience. I can see the cast in costume singing a preview of the show at the Thompson marker. Chills!

Let's definitely keep in touch over the coming weeks and months and work together to bring the Christmas Schooner home!

Thanks.

Dave Dagenais

Hi Laurie!

Good news here.

I have the complete support of my administration. As a matter of fact, after I sent the email out, my superintendent made a special trip down to my classroom to say what a wonderful idea it was to bring Schooner to Manistique. So, here we go!

I was looking at the calendar, and I think December 15, 2007 should be our target date. My choral students have regional honors choir on either the first or second Saturday of December, so we'd better go with the 15th to be sure.

As for tomorrow (Saturday).....I'm not sure what's going to happen.....I have your phone number, and you may hear from me. It all depends on how the presentation goes (it's a long training) and what the weather is doing. If I do make it over, I'll call when I get close to Thompson. If you don't hear from me, you'll know I didn't make it down, but I will another time. But, I'd like to get down to see the marker before winter sets in.....and we lose daylight savings time this weekend, so it would be difficult to get down during daylight hours on most days.

Thanks, Laurie.

'Christmas Schooner' musical sailing into Manistique next week

by Paul Olson

It was inspired by an important piece of local history, but it has never been performed in this area. Now the popular musical "The Christmas Schooner" will finally be sailing onto the stage in Manistique.

The show, featuring students from the Gwinn area, will be performed Saturday, Dec. 15, at 2 and 7 p.m., at the Frederickson Auditorium at Manistique High School.

"We're very excited about this," says Meg Wnuk of the Thompson Historical Advisory Committee, which is sponsoring the performances. "Bringing this show to Manistique has been a long-standing goal for us. Actually, when we started, this was one of our original goals."

The group, established in 2005 to preserve the history of Thompson Township, never lost sight of that goal, even while working on other projects, including securing a state historic marker and adding interpretive displays at the Lake Michigan access site, close to the place the original "Christmas Schooner," the ill-fated Rouse Simmons, began its final, fatal journey in November 1912.

The musical draws its inspiration from that famous real-life event, in which the vessel departed Thompson with a load of Christmas trees to be sold at the docks in Chicago, only to be lost with all hands in a Lake Michigan gale.

But while the historical facts are grim, the show is anything but. With a book by John Reeger and music and lyrics by Julie Shannon, it uses a fictional ship and crew to spin a story that has been described as powerful, heartwarming and inspiring, full of both humor and sorrow, as well as strong messages about the importance of family and tradition.

The cast of Gwinn High School's production of "The Christmas Schooner," which will be performed at the Frederickson Auditorium at Manistique High School Saturday, Dec. 15, at 2 and 7 p.m. (Submitted photos)

Those attributes have made "The Christmas Schooner" a seasonal favorite in other parts of the Midwest. The show has been performed in venues ranging from Minneapolis to the University of Wisconsin at Green Bay. For more than 10 years it was a Christmas tradition at the Bailiwick Repertory Theatre in Chicago, which this year staged a special concert version of the show. It is also performed annually in Door County, Wis.

The first Upper Peninsula production took place in December 2003, when director Dave Dagenais staged it at Gwinn High School.

At that time, he told the Pioneer-Tribune that a Manistique production seemed like the perfect idea.

"This is a beautiful show that portrays early Manistique so well," he said.

Unfortunately, the musical, with many sets, costumes, and a large cast, was too difficult and expensive to take on tour.

It was several more years before the director's wish and the Thompson committee's goal would finally start coming together.

That happened in August 2006, when Dagenais was directing a production of "The Christmas Schooner" for the Lake Superior Theatre Company in Marquette.

Committee member Laurie Jasmin attended one of the performances. Afterwards, she struck up a conversation with Dagenais and gave him a copy of the group's Christmas Ship DVD.

"He was hooked after that," Jasmin says. "We both knew we wanted this to happen, but there was still a lot of work to do."

One of the toughest tasks facing the committee was fund-raising, as the members quickly learned just how expensive it is to host a large-scale musical.

Jasmin says they've received financial support from a number of individuals, groups and businesses, and a significant boost in the form of a $500 grant from the Schoolcraft County Community Foundation.

Now, with preparations almost finished, the committee is eagerly awaiting the show's arrival next week.

According to Wnuk, that will start to happen on Friday, Dec. 14, when the sets, costumes and props are loaded into the auditorium and the crew begins setting up.

The cast will arrive Saturday morning for an on-stage rehearsal prior to the first performance that afternoon.

The original script of "The Christmas Schooner" calls for 11 adult actors and two children, but suggests adding extra singers and actors. Dagenais has done just that, expanding the cast to include approximately 30 performers from Gwinn High School, Gwinn Middle School and the Gilbert and K.I. Sawyer elementary schools.

Tickets for both Dec. 15 performances are available in advance at the Mustard Seed or at the door on the day of the show. Tickets are $8 for adults, $5 for students and senior citizens.

Committee members note that they will have their DVD on sale at the auditorium, while the Gwinn group will be selling "Christmas Schooner" T-shirts.

Several special guests are expected to attend the matinee performance, including author Rochelle Pennington, author of "The Historic Christmas Tree Ship," the definitive book on the Rouse Simmons. Also anticipated is a visit by Barbara Ehling, the great-granddaughter of Christmas Ship captain Herman Schuenemann.

Tickets still available for Saturday's 'Christmas Schooner' performances

People looking to buy tickets for this weekend's performances of "The Christmas Schooner" can purchase them in advance or at the door.

The musical, performed by students from Gwinn area schools, will take the stage at Manistique High School's Frederickson Auditorium this Saturday, Dec. 15, with a matinee at 2 p.m. and an evening performance at 7 p.m.

The family-oriented show is inspired by the real-life story of the Rouse Simmons, the schooner that sailed from Thompson in 1912 with a load of Christmas trees bound for Chicago, only to sink in Lake Michigan.

Tickets for Saturday's performances are $8 for adults, $5 for students and senior citizens. Advance tickets can be purchased at the Mustard Seed on South Cedar Street.

The local performances of "The Christmas Schooner" are being sponsored by the Thompson Historical Advisory Committee, with support from the Schoolcraft County Community Foundation, plus a number of business and individual sponsors.

The Thompson Township Historical Advisory Committee recently received $500 to help fund the Gwinn High School's production of "The Christmas Schooner," which will be performed at the Frederickson Auditorium at Manistique High School Saturday, Dec. 15, at 2 and 7 p.m. The committee seeks to preserve the history of Thompson Township. They recently installed a state historic marker and interpretive displays at the Lake Michigan access site, highlighting the story of the Rouse Simmons, the famous "Christmas tree Ship," and other aspects of Thompson history.

Notes

While the play is based loosely on historical fact, it does have significant importance to Schoolcraft county. The Rouse Simmon, now known as the Christmas Tree Ship, was Captained by Herman Schuenemann and was a welcomed presence in local harbors. Each year trees and boughs were shipped from our area to Chicago to brighten the holiday season. On November 22, 1912, in the face of a fierce gale, the Rouse Simmons left Thompson Harbor loaded with Christmas trees and was lost with all hands off of Two Rivers, Wisconsin. The wreck was discovered in 1971 by diver Kent Bellrichard.

The Thompson Historical Advisory committee was formed in January 2005 to bring the unique history of Thompson to the people.

The first goal of the committee was to place a Michigan historical marker commemorating the Christmas Tree Ship and the village of Thompson. This was accomplished on October 24, 2006 with a special dedication ceremony attended by the grandson and great-granddaughter of Captain Schuenemen.

Phase two was to enhance the marker site with interpretational panels giving a glimpse into the rich history of the area. The panels were installed on October 6, 2007.

The committee is always looking for more historical information (pictures, mementos, family history and stories) to help preserve our history for future generations. If you have any material that you would like to share or have any questions, please contact one of the committee members.

Letters to the Editor newsroom@pioneertribune.com

Dear Editor,

I attended the matinee performance of "The Christmas Schooner" on Dec. 15 and was totally entertained by this delightful musical. The standing ovation given to the talented young performers from Gwinn High School's Drama Club was well deserved. The Frederickson Auditorium was not filled to capacity, which surprised me, since Manistique is featured so prominently, being essential to the plot. Hopefully there was a full house for the evening performance.

The Thompson Historical Advisory Committee and the many others who provided essential support, including technical assistance from Paul Olson, are to be commended for bringing this impressive production to Manistique during the holiday season.

Kudos to all involved!

Dear Editor,

Thank you to the Thompson Historical Advisory Committee for bringing "The Christmas Schooner," a musical, performed by the Gwinn High School Drama Club, to Manistique. These performers far exceeded my expectations. It was truly a Broadway quality production. A once in a lifetime experience.

Hats off to the director, David Dagenais, orchestra Kathy Strazzinski and Darren Smith, and the entire production crew. I also thank all the local sponsors who helped make this five-star show possible, including Wayne Stanley for supplying all the Christmas trees and special branches.

My only disappointment was that the auditorium was not filled to overflowing capacity.

Sincerely,

Hi Guys,

Just wanted to say thanks again for letting me be involved with the show this weekend. It was a real blast.

I know you'll get lots of good feedback for the performances, but I'm sure most people won't really understand or appreciate the vision it took to bring the show here, the risks involved or the amount of hard work it required. You, and the rest of the committee, deserve many, many more accolades that you'll ever receive.

This was a great thing for the community all the way around, and as a special bonus, made some valuable contacts that might pay dividends some day for the drama program here -- the kind of long range ripple effect we really, really need.

Thanks again!

Paul

Paul,

I have attached the group photo as you requested. I have many more of the weekend but because I am on a dial up I will just make a disk and send it. You should have it by Friday at the latest.

Thank You for all you help this weekend and for being so kind to us and our children it was awesome.

PS. To the gentleman who donated a tree and bought our breakfast on Sat. will you let him know that we will be using his tree at our house this year. My husband was the master carpenter and Clara was Alma, we realized late Saturday will all the busseel of the show that we hadn't gotten a tree. Your crew let us take one and we chose the one she used as a family tree in the show. Our Christmas will be special as we not only have a tree from Manistique but we have the Stossel Tree.

God Bless and Merry Christmas!

Lori and Historical Committee-

Thank You again for being so kind to us.....we truly felt like royalty this weekend. Wow!!! what an incredible experience for our children and for us as parents.....most of decided it is a rough life to be a "roady". But we will never forget this past weekend. I got carried away with the photos and well you can probably tell that I like taking pictures. Hope you can use some of them.

Merry Christmas and God Bless You!

Karen

Karen DeYoung

Hi Laurie.

I'll fax the receipts to you tonight when I'm done on the computer.

The kids were tired today (well, so was I, and I bet you were, too), but only had good things to say about the trip to Manistique. Many were proudly wearing their buttons.....the buttons are great.

I received a phone call today from a good friend of mine, Father Peter Minelli. You may know him, he was a priest in Manistique until his retirement, and he lives in Gwinn now. Anyway, he called to say that several people had called him from Manistique to tell him how much they enjoyed the show. I'm sure we're going to continue to get wonderful comments.

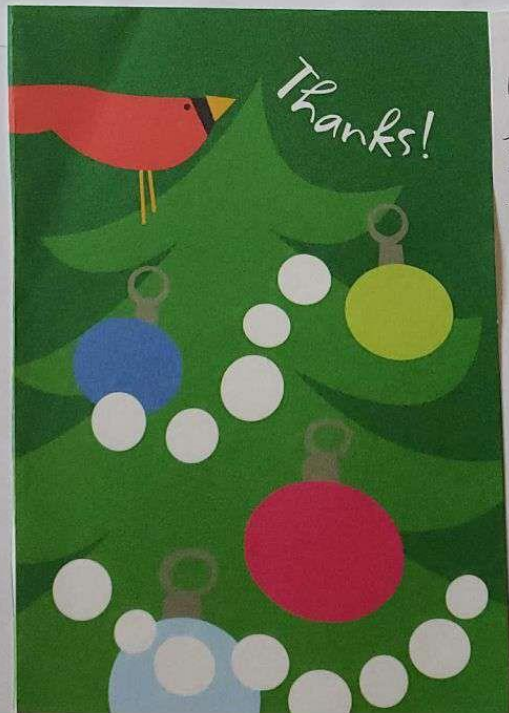

You're right, a simple thanks doesn't seem like enough. We're so appreciative of all of the organizing you and the committee. The meals were great and the whole experience was amazing.

I know that we will continue to work together on the projects. Please keep me on your email list for upcoming events. If you ever arrange for trees to be shipped on the Mackinaw out of Escanaba, let us know, we could come down and sing. The kids would love that.

We'll start planning now (well, ok, maybe in a couple of years) for a 2012 return of the Christmas Schooner to Manistique, in honor of the 100th Anniversary of the sinking of the Rouse Simmons. But.....I don't know if I can wait that long to direct the show again.....it's a favorite of mine.

Take care and keep in touch.

Dave

Dear Dave,

On behalf of the Thompson Historical Advisory Committee and the Thompson Township Board, we wish to extend our sincere thanks to everyone who had a hand in bringing The Christmas Schooner musical to Manistique. This was an amazing experience for us all and one that will be talked about for some time to come. Whether I am at work or in the grocery store, people are buzzing about the play and those who missed it are truly sorry they did. The compliments we have received have been overwhelming and gratifying. There have been many requests for an encore performance sometime in the future.

There are very few times when collaboration such as this takes place between two communities. Many times when students are involved, it is at a sporting event and there is little opportunity to get to know the students or interact with them. This event truly blew that right out of the water. We were so impressed with each and every one of the Gwinn students. They were courteous, respectful and a ball of fun. We tip our hats to them all and hope that they enjoyed this experience as much as we did. Last but most certainly not least, we want to recognize those parents who took time out of their busy holiday schedules to travel to Manistique and spend two days working to bring everything together.

Two and one half years ago our committee set a goal of bringing the musical "home". You helped make that dream come true.

Sincerely,

Laurie Jasmin, Chair

Dear Staff, Students and Parents,

I would like you to know how well your drama club represented your school and your community this past weekend here in Manistique. I can not imagine a nicer Christmas gift that one community could give another. The story about The Christmas Schooner was brought to life in a manner many of us will never forget. We sat spell bound while the players took us back in time to revisit this heart warming adventure. We are so grateful for the efforts of so many for bringing such a gift to us. I am happy to tell you the show was a true success. Happily this success is measured in joy and in conversation about our own future efforts in offering our students opportunity in drama and the arts. We can feel new hope that programs like yours will find a home in Manistique. Your efforts will be the ground we build on to encourage new thinking in our own community. Your presentation was wonderful and your pride in what you were doing was obvious. As I was watching the performance I noticed the lady sitting next to me shedding tears of joy. She like the rest of us in the audience had been moved to tears by the story and its presentation. This lady however had a special reason for her tears. She was the great grand daughter of Captain Herman Schuenemann the Captain of The Rouse Simmons which was the Christmas Tree Schooner that left our town and was lost with a full load of Christmas trees bound for Chicago November 22, 1912. In closing be proud of what you have accomplished for you have touched the hearts of many and brought joy to all. Thank you again and MERRY CHRISTMAS to you all.

Subject: Christmas Schooner in Manistique

Hello Dan.

We received your letter today in the mail, and your phone message yesterday. Thank you so much for taking the time to express your appreciation.

We were honored to be the first group to present The Christmas Schooner to the people of Manistique and Thompson. Our students learned many lessons while presenting Schooner in Manistique, including the challenges of touring with a full-length musical. But I think my favorite part about the whole weekend is how our two communities worked together to make this happen. None of this would have been possible without lots of work on both ends. You, Laurie, Pam, Meg, and the rest of the committee put so much work into the event. This was a wonderful project.

It would be a great thing if the Manistique Schools could further develop their arts programs. You have a lovely auditorium that would be suitable for so many kinds of performances.

If there is any way I can be of help in promoting the arts in Manistique, please contact me. When I was hired in Gwinn in the fall of 1998, I reactivated the drama program with literally about 12 kids, $1,000, and a couple of pieces of plywood. I had NO IDEA that it would ever turn into one of the finest programs in the Upper Peninsula. It's been great for our students, our school, and our community, and as a teacher, for me too.

I've given a workshop at the UP Educators Conference on how to start a drama program. I'd be happy to present again in Manistique if you wish.

Thanks again for all you did for the show last weekend. The accomodations, breakfast, trees, you name it. It was all wonderful!

Merry Christmas and please contact me if I can be of assistance.
