Simon Bouschor and his family were one of the first homesteaders in Thompson Township. The Bouschor property, located near Barque Point, received the distinction of being the first State of Michigan Centennial farm. In addition to farming, the family also owned businesses in the Village of Thompson and held various township positions. The Thompson Historical Advisory Committee are excited to share this opportunity with you!

Aaron N. Bouschor is a descendant of pioneers who settled at Barque Point on the Garden Peninsula in the 1850s. He is a graduate of the University of Montana and the University of Montana School of Law and has worked as an attorney and higher education administrator. He lives in southern Arizona with his wife and Siamese cat.
